

7º SIMPOSIO INTERNACIONAL DE GEOMECAÍNICA

“SUSTAINABLE HEAVY OIL EXPLOITATION, INNOVATION AND GEOMECHANICAL CONTRIBUTIONS”

13th – 16th March 2017

7º International Symposium of Geomechanics is an academic event that has been making every two years since 2004, being the opportunity to analyze the main geomechanical oil industry challenges. This version includes geomechanical of heavy oil reservoirs, in which, the oil industry has put the attention, implementing innovating technologies in order to exploit their maximum productive potential. Currently, world heavy oil reserves represent around 70% and in the national context, the 50% of the oil production provides from this kind of reservoirs.

The symposium promotes an academic venue about recent geomechanical challenges in hydrocarbon exploitation and production, gathering a group of national and international specialists and representatives of main oil Colombian companies. Symposium organization extends you and your company an invitation to join in the event in the sponsorship modality.

Event promotion will be through written media (posters, brochures, technical program, etc.), electronic media (email, website, social networks), additionally we are going to visit private and public companies and institutions.
